I happen to use a Minolta Autometer IIIF, from ebay at $30-60 typically. If you're using it in reflective mode then pretty much any modern meter (and many old.

LIGHT METER MINOLTA AUTO METER IIIF (AMBIENT/FLASH). Condition: Excellent, the price tag from when I bought it is still visible. Stop chimping and shoot.

Nikon is excellent for low-light, dynamic range, excellent auto-focus, and camera Well, before going any further into this review, let's clear that situation up first.
I haven't had much luck though, since it's such an old meter. Essentially none of the buttons work, and it eventually auto-shuts off and will not turn back on unless I switch the analog display switch back to 5, Minolta III F. setting up.
